

If you were to ask me why I picked this picture, I couldn't tell you. I don't even know who the man is. The only thing I can say by way of explanation is that after nine months of hard work I feel that I have a right to one frivolous page.

I think it's appropriate at this time to thank the people who put out this book. I think that without the help of Dave Bruce, Mabel Young, Sharon Wisniewski, Jane Hamel, Kitty Turner, and Jay Zawacki I would still be explaining why the Derrick isn't done.

Of course, Mr. Northway was always there when I needed him, and a special thanks to Ray Figg from American, our publishing company.

I wish everyone the best of luck in the future. Goodbye...
