

Good friends Brittney Horan and Karen Franacek checked their e-mail in Advanced Health. Mrs. O'Boyle used laptops for projects in the class. The girls took advantage of the computer time.

Creating his own logo for a line of sports wear was Justis Pope. Justis has been in Graphics for two years. The class was a very creative outlet for him and a nice break from academic classes.

Wandering the halls were good friends Tiffany Rhode and Rachel DeLorenzo. They stalled getting back to class and avoided the hall monitors thanks to acting like they had important work to do.

Taking advantage of the back row were classmates Connor Sembach and Jane Minnis. They were socializing instead of paying attention to the front of the classroom like they were supposed to do.
